Course Description

Introduction to Working in Schools - Tailored Learning

Content & Overview:

<https://northlincsadulteducation.co.uk/contact/> Interested in a career in a school setting?

This short introductory course is perfect if you're thinking about working in a school—whether as a teaching assistant, admin support, lunchtime supervisor, or in another support role. You'll build your confidence, learn what schools expect from staff, and find out whether this career path is right for you.

What you'll get from the course:

- An introduction to different job roles and responsibilities within a school
- An understanding of safeguarding, child development, and the school environment
- Insight into the professional behaviours schools look for in their staff
- A chance to explore the next steps in training or employment

Suitable for:

If you're considering working in a primary or secondary school, or you'd like to return to learning in a supportive and practical way, this course will help you take that first step.

Entry requirements:

No previous experience of working in a school setting.

Delivery Method:

Face to face

Progression route:

Learners can progress onto studying Teaching Assistant L2 Qualification
